Re - Prolan Halal and Kosher Statement

Prolan products are derived from Lanolin - which is a natural wax from the wool fleece. After the sheep is shorn, the wool is washed to remove the wax and this is then blended with natural oils to form our Prolan lanolin products. The sheep grows another coat to be shorn at a later date and creating a sustainable product.

Prolan have no formal Halal or Kosher certification but because the animal is not butchered or slaughtered to remove the lanolin, we believe this meets any Halal or Kosher requirements.
